Donors Needed

Last Bloodmobile Visit Tomorrow

The last visit of the Bloodmobile to Circleville for 1964 has been scheduled for tomorrow.

The unit will set up operations at the usual location in the First Methodist Church.
Donors will be received from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Persons who donated at the last Bloodmobile visit will not be eligible this trip. However, they are urged to give at the 1965 visitation on Jan. 15. Those who donate tomorrow also will be able to give again on this date.

Records show that this community is 102 pints below the 1964 quota. Red Cross and Bloodmobile officials said every effort should be made to meet tomorrow's regular goal of 125 pints, plus the 102.

A GOOD example of the blood program in action, spokesmen explain, is the case of the Columbus Police lieutenant who was fatally wounded several days ago. The officer received more than 125 pints of blood from the Red Cross Blood Bank.

The blood for this policeman had to be immediately available, as time is critical in this type of case.

Donors who gave for the officer made a fine gesture. But, as was pointed out, without the blood on hand at the Blood Bank, given by routine donors, doctors would not have been able to perform an operation.

Blood program officials noted that the Blood Bank was told it would receive many donors for the wounded officer. But after he died, the volunteers stopped coming.

The conclusion was drawn that specific cases like this are dramatic in the response of public sentiment. But many people forget that hospitals need lots of blood every day of the week.

The Blood Bank currently is in need of special donors of A-B negative blood for a surgery case and O-positive and A-positive for replenishment purposes.

Local spokesmen today urged citizens to make their holiday season complete by giving blood for someone in need — it might even be you.

75-Cent Minimum Pay Is OK'd

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—William O. Walker, Ohio director of industrial relations, today approved a five-cent-an-hour increase in the minimum wage for women and minors in the state's food establishments.

About 12,000 of the 100,000 persons affected by the minimum wage make less than the proposed 75 cents an hour mandatory minimum for non-service food workers.

Bitter opposition to the increase came from the Ohio AFL-CIO which claims even a $1.25 an hour minimum would be too low.

Walker's action was to approve the recommendation of the state wage board which studied wages of restaurant, hotel, hospital and rest home food handlers for several months.

Also approved by Walker is an increase to 80 cents an hour in the minimum wage for women and minors in non-service, food industry who work less than 30 hours a week.

Lima Mayor Quits For Job in Florida

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Mayor William B. Nungster of Lima resigned at a City Council meeting Tuesday night, effective Dec.
31.

Nungster, a Republican, will be succeeded by Homer Cooper,
a Democrat and council president. Cooper was defeated in the Nov. 3 election in his bid for the office of county clerk.

Nungster whose resignation came as a surprise to council members, said he was resigning to accept a post as public works director at Pinellas Park, Fla., near St. Petersburg. He took office as Mayor Dec. 1, 1961.

First Redistricting Plan Is Given to Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A congressional redistricting bill has been introduced. But state lawmakers say it's a starting point, not a solution, in their efforts to carve Ohio into 24 districts of nearly equal population.

The bill was introduced in the nearly empty chamber of the House of Representatives Tuesday night during a skeleton session for that purpose.

It is the 24th bill to be brought up in this special session, now in its third day. One—validating the signature of State Auditor Roger W. Tracy on $24.3 million in advance-dated payroll, maintenance and old age pension checks — passed both houses without a dissenting vote Tuesday. Many of the 62,055 checks, advance - dated for scheduling purposes, were in the mail when Tracy died Monday night.

House members considered and passed three other bills
Tuesday to:

Correct a 1963 legislative oversight which, in continuing a penny of the five-cents-a-pack cigarette tax beyond its expiration date of next Dec. 31, failed to continue a prohibition against the usual wholesalers' 3 1/3 per cent discount on that penny.

The money is to help meet the 1963 voter-approved $250 million capital improvements bond issue and, without the prohibition, sponsors said wholesalers would have gotten an estimated $250,000-$300,000 windfall. The vote was 117-0.

Permit the State Highway Department to proceed with work beyond that called for in an original contract, without receiving new bids, when unforeseen situations arise. Opponents questioned adequacy of safeguards against abuse, but it passed 89-28.

Luxembourg's Duchess To Quit Throne

LUXEMBOURG (AP)—
Grand Duchess Charlotte puts aside Thursday the crown she has worn through 45 years of war and peace, and her son, Prince Jean, ascends to the throne of Luxembourg.

In a simple ceremony, the prince will take an oath as Grand Duke Jean — the first male to rule Europe's most prosperous nation in 52 years.
He is 43.

The Grand Duchess, whose reign was the longest of any living monarch in Europe, formally renounced the crown last March. Luxembourg's leaders begged her to remain. Its people were saddened by the decision.

"I feel I have reached the age to retire, and I think Jean is the age to take over," she said recently. "After all, I am 68 now."

Prince Jean is not as popular among Luxembourg's 330,000 subjects as his mother. Dutiful as a child, he is rather withdrawn as an adult.

"A boy of very agreeable nature whose quiet and discreet behavior hides great strength of mind," a college principal once said of him.

Prince Jean is married to Princess Josephine-Charlotte, sister of King Baudouin of Belgium. They have five children.

Utah Pioneer Is 105 Today

GRANTSVILLE, Utah (AP)— Hilda Erickson came West in a covered wagon when Johnson was president and voted last week to keep Johnson in the White House.

She was teaching the Indians
how to read, write and sew when Geronimo was leading the last of the Apache uprisings in the Southwest in 1886.

She was a midwife and acting doctor and dentist for Indians and whites near the Utah-Nevada border when Army troops killed Chief Sitting Bull of the Sioux in South Dakota in 1890.

Mrs. Erickson, 105 years old today, is believed last survivor of an estimated 80,000 Mormons who immigrated to Utah on foot, horseback, or in carts and wagons before the railroads came.

Her eyes are brown, with still a sparkle; her gray hair has lively touches of the original red, and she loves to talk.

Veterans Day Tribute Paid JFK, Unknowns

Families Claim GI Mark

WASHINGTON (AP)—Many proud American families, from the Thompsons of Minnesota to the Coyne and Zigmunds of Pennsylvania, have posted claims to the most-in-military service record by a single family.

The Veterans Administration, in advance of Veterans Day today, had wondered aloud of the Kjara family, originally from Minnesota, held some sort of record with its seven brothers who saw military service during World War II.

The VA did not specify if by record it meant number of family members who served in the military simultaneously or the family with the most World War II veterans.

No less proud of their military background is the Mc-Conaughy family of Circleville, which, including the father, has had eight of its immediate members in the armed services during and since World War I.

The father, Homer McConaughy, now dead, was a World War I veteran. His seven sons all saw service.
Wayne, of near Circleville, served in the Army in World War II; Wilbur, now of Washington C. H., served with the Air Force in World War II;

Willis was killed in action during the Korean War; Willard,

the Navy during the Korean War; Wendell, also of Washington C. H., served with the Army in Germany following the Korean War; Eddie and

Missing Boys' Parents Face Lie Detector

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police disclosed Tuesday night that the families of two missing suburban Fairfax boys have undergone polygraph tests.

The two 9-year-olds, Jimmy Hundley, son of Mrs. Gladys Hundley, and James McQueary, son of James and Matilda Mc-Queary, have been missing 27 days. They were last seen near their homes Oct. 15.

Police said no new leads have turned up. Authorities in Hamilton County are cooperating in a continuing investigation.

Sgt. Russell Jackson, head of the Cincinnati Police Department homicide section, said members of the boys' families voluntarily have taken routine polygraph (lie detector) tests at police headquarters.

Any comment will have to come from Fairfax Police Chief James Finan, Jackson said.

"No comment," was Finan's response.

Bargaining Vote Due in Clinton

CINCINNATI (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board called today for a collective bargaining election among 44 employees of the Clinton County Farm Bureau Cooperative Association at its locations in Wilmington, Lee's Creek, Sabina, New Vienna, Roxana, Clarksville and Blanchester.

The 44 truck drivers, sales and service employees, mill hands and store employees will vote Nov. 18 on whether to be represented by Sales Drivers, Sales and Service Local 176, affiliated with the Teamsters' Un-

— had 10 veterans of military service in the family.

Nine of the 12 Thompson brothers, sons of Helen Thompson who still lives in the Lawler area, served during World War II. A 10th entered military service right after the war. All survived. All but one still live in Minnesota.

Ten of the 11 Vaught brothers served a total of nearly 50 years in the armed services — seven during World War II, one in Korea and two in the National Guard. The 11th brother tried to enlist several times but was turned down for health reasons.

A St. Louis widow, Marie Young, boasts nine sons with military records starting in World War II. Four served in the Navy, three in the Army and two in the Marines.

Seven Collins brothers from Boonville, Ind., saw combat during World War II. Two other brothers joined up after the war.

22 caliber rifle fired into the man's mouth.

SHERIFF Walton W. Spangler was told that Williams, unemployed, had been despondent

Once Around Roundtown

CITY Patrolman Jack Mills was called on for a bit of extracurricular duty today.

In fact, the veteran officer was almost prompted to trade in his three-wheel motorcycle for a horse. It all started when a billie goat owned by David Engle, Hayward Ave., escaped.

The animal was finally discovered in a nearby backyard whetting its appetite on some clothing placed on a line. Mills and some volunteers managed to get a rope around the goat's neck.

The patrolman's efforts to herd the stubborn animal back to its homeplace almost failed when the handle of a broom he had borrowed from a neighboring lady broke.

Officer Mills breathed a sigh of relief after getting the goat back to its owner. He also hurried downtown to purchase a new broom to replace the one that was broken.

Misuse of Food Stamps Probed

CLEVELAND (AP)—Government agents are conducting an investigation here into the misuse of food stamps issued to needy persons by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, U. S.
Atty. Merle M. McCurdy said a number of complaints had been received by the government about improper use of the stamps.

The stamps are distributed to persons on relief and those earning substandard wages, who pay from 38 per cent to 60 per cent of the face value of the stamps to the government. McCurdy said one type of violation was that those getting the stamps took them to a grocery and sold them to the owner at a price below the face value but above what the recipient paid.

Newark Man Is Killed in Auto Crash

Bertram Scott, 52,
Area's 12th Fatality;
Car Plunges 50 Feet

A Newark resident became the 12th victim on Pickaway County's highways early this morning.

Killed when his car went out of control on Route 23 about two miles north of Route 22, at the Chesapeake & Ohio

Railroad overpass was 52-year-old Bertram Scott, tram E. Scott.

State Highway Patrol officials said Scott was northbound. For an unexplained reason, his auto went out of control, struck a guard rail and the bridge abutment, plunging 50 feet to the railroad right of way.

Patrolmen were notified of the accident by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad. The crew of a passing freight train discovered the wreckage along side the track.

A SPOKESMAN for the OSP said the accident is still under investigation.

Scott is survived by his widow Georgia Bauer Scott, his mother, Clara Moore; three sons,
Donald E., Kenneth R. and Gary
E., and four grandchildren.

Scott was a brakeman for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

Roast Hippo Given Try

By RAYMOND CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Assigned by a relentless editor to cover a luncheon featuring roast hippopotamus, your correspondent rushed out to a carry-out lunchroom and bellowed:

"Give me a cheese sandwich in a brown paper bag. I don't want to starve this noon if I can't stomach hippo."

The occasion was the 20th anniversary luncheon of the Anteaters Association. This collection of some 5,500 members has never yet eaten ants, but has lunched on such things as bear from the Dismal Swamp, whale blubber from the arctic, Australian kangaroo and crab-eating seal from the antarctic.

On the left-hand page of the menu is a list of appetizers, calculated to break down resistance to exotic foods. There are such items as "beaver eyeballs on the half shell" and "ant-eater stew, hunter style, with poison ivy salad and dust of golden rod."

This page is a gag. On the right-hand page is the real menu, starting off with tidbits of wild game. Very good.

Then there is pate-de-hippo, elephant, elk, moose and reindeer.

Follows the "hippo soup."

"I don't taste any hippo in it," a diner remarked.

"Oh," replied waitress Patty Bennie, "they probably dragged a hippo through it, or let one tiptoe through it."

Came the moment of decision. The piece de resistance arrived, preceded by an encouraging word from Mrs. Bennie.

"I won't lead it in; I will bring it in on a plate."

It looked like dark colored roast beef, rather tough. So your correspondent put the cheese sandwich back in his pocket and ate hippo. It tasted just the way it looked.

HANAU, Germany (AP) — A hand grenade exploded in an elementary school playground today, wounding 40 German children, some of them seriously.

A boy said he found the grenade in a wood on his way to school, near a U.S. Army installation. He took out the pin and dropped the grenade just as the children were lining up to return to classes after morning recess.

Rudolph Pospiech, 11, who found the grenade, lost a hand and an eye. Other boys and girls suffered facial and body injuries.

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — After Columbia police arrested 26 men for fighting Saturday night, one telephoned a lawyer.

The lawyer called Magistrate Frank Powell to get approval on a signed bond.

The judge said he would tell the jail to release the man, named Paul, and the lawyer could bring the bond around for signing Monday.

Powell called the jail: "You got a bunch in there for fighting?"

"Yep," said the jailer.

"Well, let Paul go."

The jailer said he thought the magistrate said let go.

Only 16 of the 26 had been rounded up Tuesday.

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — A crew-cut young man robbed a drive-in bank Tuesday of about $500 without leaving his car.

Teller Paul Bowen, 18, said the man handed him a note demanding small bills and warning, "There is a man behind me if you don't."

Bowen saw no gun and no man behind the bandit, but handed him a pile of bills.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration is expected to ask Congress for a graduated income tax withholding rate next spring if there are too many protests by taxpayers over larger-than-usual tax bills.

Last March, when the new tax cut law went into effect, the withholding rate was reduced from 18 to 14 per cent. Some months ago the Internal Revenue Service advised that this might leave many taxpayers — especially those in the $5,000-$15,000 bracket — with additional taxes to pay next spring.

Treasury sources said a protest from taxpayers who have to pay additional taxes in the spring would be balanced against possible complaints from employers over the additional burden entailed in the new rate.

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said Tuesday that the United States does not intend to reply to Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai's call for a world summit conference on nuclear weapons.

Chou made the proposal last month when the Chinese exploded their first atomic device and promptly followed it up with direct communications to the West.

U.S. officials have said they regard the Chinese Communist proposal as a smoke screen. President Johnson called on the Chinese Reds to show good faith by signing the limited nuclear test-ban treaty. They refused.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has suspended a large portion of its aid to Bolivia in the wake of the military's overthrow last week of the South American nation's government.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says it has shipped replacements to South Viet Nam for four first aid kits containing some unserviceable medical items.

Forty-six other kits, checked at a field medical depot in South Viet Nam, were brought up to standard by replacing unserviceable items.

With killing 52 Japanese soldiers had some farm chores to perform today before he could celebrate Veterans Day.

John Randolph McKinney, 43, said he hoped to finish a corn gathering job and take off for the woods deer hunting.

McKinney, one of Georgia's six Medal of Honor winners, shuns parades and ceremonies. More than 19 years have passed since President Harry S. Truman presented the Medal of Honor to McKinney. When the Georgian came home he was invited to many military functions but he shunned most of them. He said he wanted to forget the war. He fought in the Philippines and in New Guinea.

The Georgian works 9 to 15 hours daily as a farm hand on a 400-acre tract his cousin, J. W. McKinney, operates on a share-cropping system.

He has never married. The action that won him the nation's highest award occurred in Tayabase Province on Luzon in the Philippines on May 11, 1945.

McKinney was guarding a machinegun position with two infantrymen. He was resting near the gun position, after a turn on duty, when a Japanese soldier dashed up and slashed at him with a saber.

Dazed and angered by the blow that nearly severed his left ear, McKinney bludgeoned his attacker with his rifle and shot another Japanese who was advancing in him. One of his comrades was wounded and the third soldier manning the machinegun withdrew, carrying the wounded GI with him, the official citation said.

Ten Japanese infantrymen captured the American machinegun.

Leaping into the gun emplacement, McKinney shot seven of them and beat three others to death with the butt of his rifle.

The citation says McKinney shifted his position often, reloaded his rifle repeatedly and cut down more attackers.

When assistance arrived, bodies of 38 enemy soldiers were sprawled about the gun. Many of them had been fatally wounded by the butt of McKinney's rifle. At a mortar position 45 yards from where the attack started bodies of two other Japanese were found.

Battle Seen For Democrat Floor Leader

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Minority Democrats elected to the Ohio House for the 1965 legislative session will caucus next Tuesday to select a floor leader.

Rep. Michael A. Sweeney, D-Cuyahoga, is expected to challenge Rep. A. G. Lancione, D-Belmont, for the minority leadership.

Sweeney reportedly has a solid backing of 17 representatives from Cuyahoga County. Lancione is in his second year as Democratic floor leader.

Republicans elected to the House for the next session will caucus Monday with the expectation that House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, will continue in his present post.

Republicans will have 75 members in the next session and Democrats 62.

Soviet Subs Expected

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — The skipper of the Navy's submarine warfare forces in the Pacific says the Soviet Union is expected to send more subs into the area soon because of U.S. Polaris-armed warships there.

First Musical at CHS Promises To Be Exciting

Football season is nearly over and the hum of athletic events is calming, but another exciting event is in its final two weeks of preparation at Circleville High School.

On Nov. 20 and 21 the junior class will be sponsoring Circleville's first all-school musical comedy, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

The work being done on stage is quite elaborate. Last Thursday night saw a successful first run-through, according to Director Robert Ransom, with all cast members, numbering nearly 85 taking part.

The curtains rose, the spots flicked on and for the first time in many years the strains of a musical overture came from the orchestra pit.

In less than two weeks the curtain will rise again, the spots will flick on and the overture will begin. This time there will be added the tension, the excitement and the final thrill of a real performance.

Behind the scenes there are numerous tasks of production being performed. Publicity committees are in their final stages of preparation. Tickets are being sold and programs printed.

A costume committee is outfitting CHS's largest cast ever and a make-up committee is whipping up mounds of grease paint to be put on actors' faces.

A props committee is gathering items of realism and a stage crew is deep in the task of creation. Light and sound crews are preparing effects to add to the colorful and gay atmosphere of the play. The evidence of musical work is present as one walks down the halls of Circleville High School only to hear "three bars of this song and two measures of that."

The work is hectic and the hours long, but the students at CHS are soon to realize a great reward in seeing their efforts go into two hours of gay entertainment that the community of Circleville will not soon forget.

Tickets for this unique and exciting interpretation of "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" are now on sale and may be reserved in the main hall of Circleville High School any weekday from 11:30 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. and on Saturday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Nationalist Aide Dies

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Yu Yu-jen, 86, an early comrade of Dr. Sun Yat-sen in founding China's first republic in 1912, died Tuesday. He was known as the grand old man of Nationalist China.

In recent days both Pastore and Monroney announced their candidacies and circulated letters to Democratic senators seeking support. The Long camp regards Pastore as the most formidable opponent.

Monroney said Tuesday in Oklahoma City that he feels very good about his chances for getting the post.

To those who point out that Long's Louisiana was one of the six states Johnson failed to carry in the election, his followers point out that the senator campaigned through his state for the President.

Laborites OK Pension Hike, Tax Boosts

LONDON (AP) — The new Labor government announced today substantial increases in British pensions and unemployment benefits and a hike in income taxes to pay for them.

James Callaghan, chancellor of the exchequer — a post similar to secretary of the treasury in the United States — told the House of Commons the additional welfare outlay would cost approximately 85 million pounds ($238 million) a year.

He said the standard income tax rate would be raised from 7 shillings 9 pence (38.75 percent) to 8 shillings 3 pence (41.25 percent) per pound of taxable income to meet the additional cost.

Callaghan said the pension rate for a retired married couple would rise from 5 pounds 9 shillings ($15.26) a week to 6 pounds 10 shillings ($18.20).

The weekly unemployment benefit will go up from 3 pounds 7 shillings 6 pence ($9.45) to 4 pounds ($11.20).

Vietnamese Fight Floods

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A U.S. military spokesman said today 1,100 Vietnamese civilians are reported to have drowned in floods surging through the valleys of mountainous central Viet Nam.

The spokesman cautioned that the figure may be exaggerated, but a natural disaster of major proportions was increasingly evident.

Refugees are pouring into the main coastal cities. Between 36,000 and 45,000 are in Da Nang, a key port and military base 380 miles northeast of Saigon. Several thousand are reported at other cities.

Rescue work in some of the 10 stricken provinces is being hampered by Communist Viet Cong groundfire against U.S. helicopters attempting to move out the stricken and to fly in food supplies, the spokesman said.

Farm Bureau Vote Awaited

Grocery Purchase OK Is Expected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation heads toward a showdown vote today on whether to buy one of the nation's major food chains with resounding approval of the idea forecast by leaders and members alike.

Approval would be the first step toward the purchase of supermarket chain, giving Ohio farmers a chance to join with other state federations in exerting their "financial muscle" in the market place.

About 1,000 delegates are attending the annual meeting here but only 254 will vote on the purchase resolution. The matter will reach final decision at Farm Bureau's national convention in Philadelphia in December.

The purchase resolution is one of a long list up for action today.

Other resolutions call for approving marketing associations, cooperatives, research, conservation of natural resources, continuation of migrant labor, the Peace Corps and Food for Peace.

The Food for Peace program came in for special attention Tuesday as Richard W. Reuter, President Johnson's director of the program, addressed delegates.

He told them the program has put $64 million in their pockets and that the program benefits all mankind.

At a news conference, Reuter defended sales of surplus farm products to Communist countries, saying they "have done more to sell American free enterprise than any single thing we have done overseas."

Another speaker last night was Gov. James A. Rhodes, who told the delegates that the bond issue method he has espoused for financing state programs and capital improvements is the only sensible way to foster growth and prosperity.

Aiding Scholars

The federal government's heavy support of university research in science often inspires suggestions that government funds ought also to go to the humanities. But Kingman Brewster Jr., president of Yale, does not think so.

Mr. Brewster is as unhappy as many others with the fact that federal beneficence makes scientific research much more lucrative than humanities research, sometimes adding several thousand dollars a year to a faculty salary.

Physical science has the advantage of being clear-cut and of producing moon rockets. Humanists work in more nebulous and often controversial fields and under a government program, Mr. Brewster argues, they would risk political harassment or confinement to "safe" causes which would contribute little more than paper for the archives.

Experience abundantly supports Mr. Brewster's doubts. That leaves it to the universities, as he proposes, to do all they can to raise the financial prestige of their scholars in the humanities.

The Business World

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are set to spend more and borrow more the rest of this year, if present signs are borne out. And the boost this will give the economy is expected to carry over at least into next spring.

Consumers currently are increasing both the amount spent and the percentage of their incomes parted with. The slowly rising cost of living accounts for only part of this outlay. And little fear of sharp increases in prices in the future is reported.

In September consumer credit also rose fairly sharply, as much of the increased spending was put on the cuff.

At the same time, business was raising inventories and this, too, is a form of betting on future prosperity. An even surer sign of confidence is the latest report on business plans to raise spending for new plants and equipment. Industrial leaders are counting on expanding markets.

Pollsters studying consumer intentions cite a significant rise in optimism during the summer months. They project this, plus gains in personal income totals, into larger dollar outlays in the months ahead. The University of Michigan's Institute of Social Research thinks the marked improvement in consumer sentiment between June and September is due more to actual increases in before-tax income of many Americans rather than to the gains in take-home pay from the federal tax cut. Its survey shows many consumers dismissing the tax cut as too small on a weekly basis to make much difference in their spending.

Earlier debt repayments and savings increases have given many consumers a greater readiness this fall to spend. The institute thinks "the economy will be stimulated by substantial consumer demand during the Christmas season and also in the spring of next year when fiscal policy will provide a much smaller new stimulus than in the spring of this year."

Government figures for September show that the change from saving to spending and borrowing is already under way.

Installment debt rose $513 million to nearly $57.5 billion. Other forms of credit brought the total of consumer credit to $73.5 billion.

In the three summer months personal consumption spending hit an annual rate of $40.5 billion. Personal savings dropped to 7.4 per cent of after tax income, after rising to a higher than average 8.2 per cent in the April-June quarter.

Retail sales figures show a 5.4 per cent rise in the average for August and September from the average for last December and January. Biggest gains were reported by durable goods stores, as they usually do when personal incomes are rising strongly.

Letters People Never Receive

NEW YORK (AP) — Letters people would like to get but rarely do:

"The diagnosis of our clinic is that you are suffering from generalized fatigue brought on by overwork. Therefore we are recommending to your employer that you be given a six-month leave of absence with pay so you can recuperate. It is imperative that you have no cares or responsibilities. We suggest a warm climate, such as Tahiti, and recommend that you leave your wife at home."

"At our last division reunion your old company commander and I decided you never did get proper credit for repulsing that enemy charge on our food depot near the Rhine early in 1945. It was one of the most heroic individual actions in our outfit. Anybody who singlehandedly saved 21 tons of our precious peanut butter from being captured certainly deserves some kind of reward, so — belatedly — we are turning you in for a Silver Star."

"Remember back in 1936 when I bet you $50 even that Alf Landon would carry at least 20 states? Well, my great aunt passed away recently and left me a little money, so please find enclosed my check for $50. If you feel like putting a little dough down on the 1968 race, I'll bet you 2-1 that the Republicans will."

"Of course, every hospital makes mistakes, but I still can't see how our nurse informed you that you were the father of quadruplets when all your wife had was a 6-pound boy. There will be no medical charges, naturally, for treating the concussion you received when the nurse's mistaken news caused you to faint and strike your head on the hospital floor. Our attorney will call on you soon to discuss a reasonable settlement."

"It is our pleasure to inform you, Mrs. Smythe, that you were the winner among 46 million entrants in Krackley-Krunch's 25-word boxtop essay contest on "Why I love to eat cheerful — sounding breakfast cereals." The first prize — a Rolls-Royce filled with silver dollars — is now ready. Do you wish to pick it up, or shall we drive it to your home?"

"Remember me, your old pal Joe Hardtop, the guy who beat you for the job as varsity half-back our senior year in high school? Well, I'm selling Christmas cards for a living now, and I wondered if, for old times' sake, you'd —"

"It was foolish of you to let my baby play with your $750 diamond ring, Madge. You might have known he'd swallow it. I don't mind telling you I'd have sued you if it had been necessary to operate. But, anyway, here's your ring back, good as new, and I suggest we both just forget the whole incident."

"I was just shuffling through some of the White House mail and came across your teenage son's application to work as a cowboy on our ranch next summer. Nothing would de-light me more. Lady Bird and I sure would take it as a favor if you and the missus would join us for a couple of restful weeks, too. If you like real Texas Chili, I can promise you that —"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

FRANKLIN P. ADAMS was journeying uptown in a jammed subway train one evening with his young nephew planted on his lap. At Times Square, a beautiful young lady boarded the train and planted herself directly in front of Mr. Adams. The latter promptly dumped his nephew off his lap, ordering him loudly, "My boy, get up at once and give this lady your seat!"

A new example of how a wife can torture her poor, deserving husband is cited by a correspondent from Detroit. Seems the poor husband in question complained long and bitterly that his electric blanket wasn't regulated properly. Either he woke up in the middle of the night frozen to death or burning alive. Furthermore, his complaints grew more strident and continuous all during January. On February first his wife informed him with a heathenish shriek of delight that she had completely disconnected the blanket's electric cord on New Year's Eve and that it had remained disconnected ever since.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

Are there special precautions to be taken when an adult catches mumps?

The same general forms of treatment for mumps apply to both children and adults.

With the increased chances of complications in adults, additional rest is often necessary.

Relief of pain with drugs is readily accomplished.

The use of antibiotics or other medications is up to the judgment of the physician in each individual case.

An injection of gamma globulin taken from a recently recovered mumps patient is thought to be helpful in preventing complications in adults.

Is there a reason why sinus headaches sometimes get better or worse at different times of the day?

A sinus headache is relieved when the infection drains out of the sinuses.

Some sinuses drain while the patient is in an upright position. When these sinuses are infected, the discomfort will be greatest at night, while the patient is lying in bed.

Other sinuses drain while the patient is lying down. With this condition, discomfort will increase during the day and be relieved at night.

Treatment for a sinus infection is aimed at increasing the drainage. Postural drainage—in addition to steam inhalation, hot compresses and prescribed antibiotics — reduces the severity and duration of sinus attacks.

What is meant by brown "liver spots" on the skin?

These spots have no relationship to the liver. The name probably originates from the fact that the color resembles that of liver.

These spots often appear as people grow older. Usually they are of no medical importance. They are distressing mostly because of their appearance.

Fear that these spots mean cancer is unfounded.

There are so many varieties of skin blemishes that it is wise to follow a single healthy rule about them:

Any skin blemish that bleeds or fails to heal quickly deserves a doctor's attention. The patient will benefit both from his professional advice and from the emotional reassurance he will offer.

What could cause a woman to lose her eyelashes and eyebrows without any other loss of hair?

This condition is often seen by physicians in the absence of any allergic reaction to cosmetics or local skin conditions around the eyes, the suspicion focuses on a psychological cause.

It must be emphasized that the psychological factor must only be considered after all possible physical causes have been intensively studied and ruled out.

Rosy Status Quo?

By John Chamberlain

To talk about the future of the Republican Party at this moment is a futile thing, for everything depends on how Lyndon Johnson construes his "mandate." The new Republican Party will take form from the opposition that Johnson generates, and this must wait upon the White House decisions of a strong, wary character who has held out a general promise to all groups without really committing himself to much in the way of specific promises to any group.

The election returns might caution LBJ to go slow. Does the Goldwater defeat mean that the country is ready to plunge ahead into a big round of New Dealism? Since no outside racial economic issues were offered to the electorate, little basis for this is to be found in the votes. Many businessmen went to Johnson on the supposition that he will continue a tax cutting program (excise tax cuts for the next round) and keep the federal budget below $100 billion a year. And the general issue of conservatism versus Big State liberalism got sidetracked in a welter of argument about nuclear deterrent policy. Partly this was the fault of Goldwater's off-the-cuff habit of speaking, partly it was the fault of the Rockefeller-Lodge-Chris Herter Republicans who made whopping pre-convention mountains out of molehills without regard to what it would do to the party in the autumn. (Old Joe Martin at San Francisco predicted that the Republicans would die in November from the self-inflicted wounds of May and June). But the main reason for the sidetracking of issues was Johnson's own insistence that arguments would only cause election day trouble. This deprived the Democrats of any opportunity to discover what the country might want in terms of specific policy and legislation.

Meanwhile, the other New York State "leverage" group, the Alex Rose - Dubinsky Liberal Party, which possessed the advantage of having the Johnson - Humphrey electors on its line, polled a disappointing 340,000 votes for Johnson and 270,000 for Senator Kennedy.

What all this means, in terms of New York politics, is that the Rockefeller Republicans must reckon with a small but potent "leverage" group whose vote on endorsement might make or break a Republican candidate for almost any important State office.

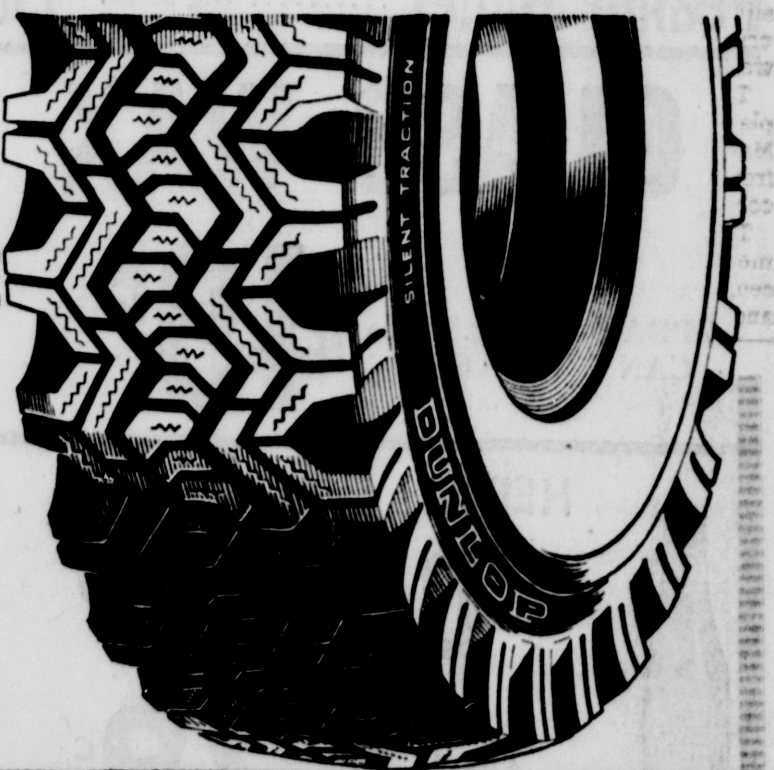

Barry Goldwater himself may be through as a Presidential candidate. But the hard core of Republican conservatives which represents about a third of the America electorate means that "Goldwaterism" has a veto power within the Republican Party if it chooses to exercise it on election day. By the same token, the Republican "liberals" also have a veto power (indeed, they have just finished exercising it). What this would seem to mean is that the Republicans must come up with a candidate who knows how to be conservative (to the point of avoiding a "me too" stigma) without raising the hackles of the "moderates." There doesn't seem to be anyone on the horizon who is capable of working such a miracle. George Murphy, who beat Salinger in California, is hardly a national figure. Governor Romney of Michigan needlessly offended the conservatives by going outside of his own state to say, in a pre-election speech in Massachusetts, that "victory doesn't always produce the best results."

The Republican savior, in any case, won't appear until after the Democrats have made some bad mistakes that hurt people in their pocketbooks or that involve them in troubles overseas. You can't beat a status quo as long as it is coming up roses.

SITTING BUCKS—Mrs. Richard Sosnovske, farm wife near Gleason, Wis., poses with a couple of deer which proved to be sitting bucks for her bow and arrow. Someone told her two bucks were fighting nearby and she grabbed her bow and arrows and hid herself thence. It turned out the bucks' horns were locked and one was dying of a broken neck. She dispatched the other with a single arrow. One with 10-point antlers weighed 185 pounds, the other, a 13-pointer, weighed 230 pounds.

MARRIAGE PROBLEM

Q. I know a 20-year-old girl who is considering marriage to her first cousin. Is such a marriage advisable from a medical standpoint?

A. The possibility of hereditary diseases showing up in the children of blood relatives is greater than when the parents are not related. This is due to the fact that a related husband and wife may each carry a "silent" undesirable hereditary trait which was present in their common ancestors. If these persons marry non-relatives, the concealed trait is more likely to remain dormant for many generations without appearing in the children. It should be noted that in some states the marriage of first cousins is prohibited by law.

IMPENDING MENOPAUSE

Q. I am 47 and show signs of the menopause (periods 12 to 25 days apart). Should I consult a doctor or just let nature take her course?

A. You should consult your physician. Such wide variations may or may not be significant but should not be passed off as a normal prelude to the menopause. After an examination the doctor will decide what steps to take.

Autumn Drought Plagues Hundreds of Communities

CHICAGO (AP) — An autumn drought described in some areas as the worst in history has turned hundreds of communities into emergency areas, threatened the nation's farmers with a multimillion-dollar loss in winter wheat and made forestlands fire traps.

An Associated Press survey showed that hundreds of counties have become eligible for federal aid as wells, streams and springs have dried up and water has been pumped to farms.

The drought has taken on major proportions in New England, which the U.S. Weather Bureau said was the worst in the area's history. The bureau said the drought has extended for more than six months in four New England states.

Farmers scanned the skies grimly in the Midwest and Southwest as one of the worst moisture shortages in the 20th century began taking its toll on the winter wheat crop.

In California, the drought situation was eased by a torrential rainstorm.

One of the hardest-hit states is Colorado, where the state's entire $100-million winter-wheat crop is near total destruction because of lack of rain. The situation also was described as critical in parts of Wyoming and western Kansas.

The New England drought plagued an area from Pittsfield, Mass., to Hartford, Conn., and from Haverhill, Mass., to Concord, N.H.

The Massachusetts Department of Water reported a 30 per cent water shortage in October and described the situation as a statewide emergency.

Thousands of dairy farms are short of water in Vermont and New Hampshire.

In Pennsylvania, the Crop Reporting Service said the winter wheat crop has a poor start in a state which has an $800-million agricultural industry.

Twenty-five eastern Pennsylvania counties are eligible for federal emergency feed grains and other counties are applying.

An official said that unless heavy rains come before the ground freezes, farmers will be faced with a water shortage all winter. Fifteen communities are now on emergency water supplies and some farmers are hauling water for livestock.

Last month was the driest October this century in Illinois. Wisconsin is experiencing its second driest autumn since records were begun in 1892.

Twenty-six of Minnesota's 87 counties have been designated disaster areas and 26 of South Dakota's 64 counties have designated drought areas.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has declared 14 of Michigan's 83 counties emergency feed areas. More than 3,250 livestock producers have been threatened with liquidation of their estimated 38,480 head of livestock.

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Reginald Spiers, the 22-year-old athlete who flew 12,000 miles hidden in a wooden crate because he couldn't pay $640 for a ticket, must pay $970 freight charges, Air India said Monday. "He knows what he has to pay, it's set out in the consignment," said George Talati, Perth manager of the Indian line. "We don't intend to invoice him for it."

Spiers said Monday he would pay up but it would have to be in installments. Talati said the company wants a lump sum. The manager said international air transport regulations prevent the line from waiving the freight charge. Spiers, a javelin thrower who failed to make Australia's Olympic team, went to London to try for the English team and failed again. Broke and homesick, he got a friend to crate him up and ship him c.o.d. to a nonexistent firm in Perth.

Spiers spent nearly three days cooped up in the crate without food or water. At Perth, he broke out of the box, cut his way out of the customs shed's screen door and hitchhiked 1,800 miles to his wife and child in Adelaide.

Spiers said he has no job but several have been offered him. So far, he added, he has made only $89.60 on his exploit, from a newspaper which bought his story.

The Chinese invented paper more than 2,000 years ago. The first papers were made from such materials as mulberry, bamboo and rags.

13 Plastic Pipe Firms Fined for Fixing Prices

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A U.S. District Court judge has imposed a total of $295,500 in fines on 13 plastic pipe manufacturers and 11 individuals who pleaded no contest to price-fixing charges.

Saying that the no contest pleas were in effect guilty pleas, Judge Mell G. Underwood imposed the fines Tuesday after hearing arguments from counsel for the defendants.

The charges, which grew out of operation of the various companies from 1956 to 1960, specifically accused the defendants of conspiring to fix prices and sell out conditions for the sale of three types of plastic pipe.

Carlton Products Co. of Cleveland received the biggest fine—$47,500, and its president, William Abramowitz, was fined $19,500.

Other fines included $20,000 against Republic Steel Corp., $22,500 against U. S. Rubber Co., and $25,000 against B. F. Goodrich Co.

Howard M. McDaniel, Republic assistant sales manager, was fined $2,000 and a $1,000 fine was imposed on David T. Skowlund, in charge of sales development for U.S. Rubber.

No individual for U.S. Rubber was named in the Sept. 3 indictments.

The three types of pipe on which the defendants were accused of conspiring to fix prices were described as "ABS" plastic, "second grade polyethylene" and polyvinyl chloride plastic.

Defense counsel conceded that there were several meetings of companies but that these were aimed at "standardizing" the plastic pipe industry so it could compete with makers of lead, copper and other types of pipe.

Figures also were introduced showing that in nearly every instance prices in the period involved decreased rather than increased.

However, Judge Underwood said that the defendants "nolo contendere" pleas amounted to guilty pleas and that they "did conspire and agree to fix and tamper with prices."

Other Ohio firms and their fines were:

Yardley Plastics Co., Columbus, Ohio, $30,000 and its vice president-sales, Robert W. Rosel, $2,000.

The Colonial Plastics Manufacturing Co., Cleveland $15,000, and its vice president and general manager, William Hatfield Jr., $1,500.

Consolidated Pipe Co. of America, Akron, Ohio, $5,000 and its president, Carl D. Pearl, $3,500.

The Zimmerman Co., Columbus, Ohio, $10,000 and its president, Richard S. Zimmerman, $5,000.

Cleveland Cops Rap Sheriff After Jailbreak

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland police have charged that Cuyahoga County deputy sheriffs hampered police efforts to help catch four prisoners who escaped from the county jail Tuesday night.

The four used a six-inch hacksaw blade to saw off the bars of a door that led from their fourth-floor dormitory cell block. After entering an office, they sawed through a window bar, then jumped to a third-floor roof and lowered them selves to the ground on a rope made of bedsheets.

The blade was found outside the cell block.

A fifth prisoner fell from the makeshift rope and broke an ankle. He was captured.

Police Detective Sgt. Norman Ferris said the sheriff's office delayed nearly an hour in giving out information on the escapees. The county jail and police station are next-door to each other on East 21st Street.

"They said they didn't want assistance and locked the door in my face," Sgt. Ferris said. "I waited around long enough to learn I wasn't wanted and went back to the police station."

Ferris said it was more than 45 minutes after the break before police were given the names and descriptions of the escapees. These then were broadcast over police radio.

There were 18 men in the cell block from which the men escaped. Deputies were questioning other prisoners.

The escaped prisoners were identified as:

—Edward J. Ward (alias Edward Dawson), 21, of Cleveland, awaiting trial for stabbing to wound and robbery.

—James E. Kennedy, 26, of Columbus, a federal prisoner charged with bank robbery. Columbus police said he was sentenced to a federal penitentiary on conviction of holding up the Clintonville Branch of the Ohio National Bank in Columbus.

—William J. Moralevitz, 25, of Lakewood, charged with house-breaking and burglary.

—Kenneth E. Canda, 27, of Cleveland, a material witness in a forthcoming robbery trial. Canda had been brought to county jail from Ohio Penitentiary, where he had been serving 20 to 50 years for armed robbery.

The fifth prisoner, Rodger A. Bohn, 21, of Cleveland, slipped from the rope and fell 15 feet into a well facing a basement window. He is a federal prisoner awaiting trial for the attempted robbery of an Akron bank on Aug. 21.

Two Men Are Transferred To Du Pont Film Plant Here

Two organizational transfers were announced today at Du Pont's Circleville film plant.

Now assigned here are Frank Estes and Arthur Cross. Both were transferred to Circleville from the company's film plant in Old Hickory, Tenn.

Estes comes here as a maintenance area supervisor for the "Teflon" and H-film plants. He joined Du Pont in 1956 at Old Hickory.

The new staff member and his wife, Betty Jo, have two daughters, Debra Mae, 9, and Susan Elaine, 8. They live at 605 Ridgeview Drive.

Estes was graduated from Vanderbilt University where he earned a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering. He served three years with the U.S. Army Engineers.

The area supervisor has held various engineering and maintenance positions with the company and has several years experience in the manufacture of cellophane.

Cross was transferred here as a specialist in the accounting section. He started his tenure with Du Pont in 1960.

The accounting section specialist lives at 235 Cedar Heights Road with his wife, Mona, and daughters Mona Lisa, 7, and Sharon Gay, 3.

Cross is a graduate of the

Indianapolis Recalls Ice Show Tragedy

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — It had that eerie feeling, with time reversed, of a dress rehearsal for disaster.

Skaters glided across the ice in silvery symmetry. The crowd clapped, but applause came only in short bursts and died quickly.

It was opening night again for the "Holiday on Ice Revue," returning to the death-scarred Indiana State Fairgrounds Coliseum. A violent explosion there Oct. 31, 1963, ripped concrete stands only three minutes away from the opening night final curtain. The blast left 74 dead, 375 injured.

Many of the show's numbers, as they built up again toward the pageantry of the finale were the same as last year.

"They're quiet, real quiet," a skater said of the crowd. "They're not settled. I think they're conscious that it's opening night again—every one of them."

Shiny new seats, most of them filled, marked the section of stands demolished by exploding cooking gas in a concession room last year.

The skaters had wanted to return for the week-long stand, a promoter explained, to erase the memories of the last opening night.

Teachers in Louisville Continue Their 'Strike'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Louisville school teachers' strike continued today with the possibility of silent sentinels in place of pickets at the schools.

A court order has been issued against picketing, but an attorney advised the strikers it wouldn't apply if they just walked nearby, in silence.

Louisville schools continued to operate even with absences of teachers that hit some schools hard Tuesday. There seem to be 50 to 200 strikers compared with the total city teacher force of 1,896. No firm figure on the strike force has been released. The teachers seek a pay increase.

Gov. John McKeithen of Louisiana called a special session of the legislature for Monday to boost teachers' salaries. He acted in the face of mounting pressures from Louisiana's 36,000 teachers. McKeithen said he will ask a $500 across-the-board hike, half of what the teachers demand.

In Oklahoma Gov. Henry Bellmon called for teachers to meet with him Dec. 5, saying there had been "a breakdown in communications between the governor's office and the teachers." He said he would outline a program to "substantially improve Oklahoma's educational system." His call for the meeting came after 1,200 teachers had demanded a $1,000 salary boost by March 1, saying they wouldn't sign new contracts next spring if their demands were not met.

Between 150 and 250 teachers stayed away from classes in Louisville's junior and senior high schools Tuesday. At some schools the students spent the day in study halls or ranged between the auditorium and classes that were staffed.

Some strikers also picketed, despite the order. Many of them met late Tuesday and agreed to keep the walkout going. The school crisis erupted last Wednesday after voters had turned down a tax boost that would have increased salaries.

The current teacher wage in Louisville is $4,400 to $6,600 a year. The teachers want a $1,500 boost, five times what they would have received under the tax raise that was defeated.

Dear Abby: She's Not the First!

DEAR ABBY: How can you tell if a man is married? The way men lie nowadays you can't tell the married ones from the single ones. You sure can't believe what they tell you. I was a widow for six years when my daughter introduced me to a very nice man whom she knew at the place where she worked. We were attracted to each other from the start. He said his wife was dead. We went together for almost a year. This man asked me to marry him after our second date. I said I thought we should get to know each other better before discussing marriage. I don't know what he'd have done if I had said yes because his wife was very much alive. (I just found out about her last week.) I called her on the phone and she told me plenty. She wasn't mad. She said I wasn't the first and I wouldn't be the last. Also that she didn't love him but was only keeping him around for his pay check. So, dear Abby, I'm asking you. How can a woman be sure?

SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED: Your most reliable information on the marital status of a suitor would come either from the bureau of vital statistics or from others who have known the man longer than you have. Some men are polished liars, so if a man never takes you to his old haunts and never introduces you to his friends, beware.

DEAR ABBY: I am 23, single and have a very good job. I've been deferred from Army service because of my job, but my deferment is up in January. I recently met the most wonderful girl. I see her only on weekends, but she is constantly in my thoughts. I've asked her to marry me, but now I'm not sure if I'm really in love, or just looking for someone to marry to stay out of the Army. I find it hard to keep my mind on my work, and this problem is keeping me up nights. Can you give me some advice?

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: When a man is in love, he knows it, and he doesn't question his motives for considering marriage. Don't marry this "wonderful girl" while you are still wondering whether it's "love" or the deferment that is drawing you to the altar. Army duty is temporary. Marriage is a lifetime hitch!

DEAR ABBY: About the "retarded" poodle who piddles: The owners sound retarded to me. In the first place, puppies should not be taken from their mothers until they are ten weeks old. If a dog is taken for a walk the first thing in the morning, and rewarded with a kind word or a biscuit for having accomplished the purpose of the walk, then turned out a time or two during the day, and walked again in the evening, the carpets and furniture would be safe.

I worked in a resort where half the people with dogs who checked in for the week-end would get stoned in the evening, then sleep off their hangovers until noon. By that time the poor dog would have answered Nature's call on the carpet. But why blame the dog if the owner has no sense? Yours for a better deal for dogs.

MRS. R.M.H.

DEAR ABBY: Tell Julius' wife not to complain because her husband can't dance. If he's the same Julius I knew back in Indiana about 15 years ago, he couldn't dance then, either. But he had a lot of other qualities that were much better than dancing. I wish I had waited for him.

Things Hum On Nation's Railroads Now

NEW YORK (AP) — Things are hummin' on the railroad. Heavily laden trains are carrying factory products, coal, lumber, grain, ore and automobiles to mill, plant and market at a rate unmatched since the prosperous mid-1950s.

Wall Street has marked up stock prices to match the recovery of rail earnings from the 15-year low of 1961, and some stocks sell at double their lows of early in the year.

Still, pockets of financial misery persist, especially in the East. The Erie-Lackawanna, Reading, Jersey Central and a few other railroads are mired in the red.

These are mostly lines burdened with short systems and money-losing passenger operations. Freight is a railroad's bread-and-butter.

Over-all railroad earnings are expected by financial analysts and Railway Age, industry weekly, to top $700 million in 1964, hitting an eight-year high.

This estimate allows for added payroll expense from prospective wage settlements with union employees. A charge against the current year of $100 million to $150 million could result.

Gains through mergers, stepped up sales, major equipment innovations, job elimination, automation, better freight car utilization and improved maintenance have contributed to the brightened picture.

Underlying everything else is swelling freight volume generated by 45 consecutive months of an expanding economy.

By the old-time yardstick of carloadings, freight traffic has climbed to a 5½ year high. But carloadings tell only part of the story.

A carload averages 55 tons of freight as against about 50 tons five years ago. This is because jumbo hopper, gondola, flat and box-type freight cars are gradually replacing worn-out smaller units. Also, hauls are longer on the average, and trains move faster.

So using the more accurate barometer of ton-miles — a ton of revenue freight hauled one mile — today's volume has risen 20 per cent from the June

Socialites Convicted in Drink Case

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Four Darien socialites and a man who served as a bartender at a debutante party they gave at their fashionable Darien home were convicted Tuesday of serving liquor to minors.

Six other persons charged in connection with teen-age drinking at the party pleaded innocent, asked for a trial by a jury, and were ordered to appear in court on Nov. 17.

The case came to prominence when it was disclosed that teen-agers had been drinking at two parties that preceded an automobile accident last June in which the 17-year-old daughter of an American Airlines vice president was killed.

In Circuit Court today, Dr. George Hughes, a psychiatrist, and his wife, Julia Ann, stood silent, holding hands, as Judge Alfred Toscano asked how they pleaded. The judge fined them $500 each.

Dudley P. Felt, 60, a consulting engineer, and his wife, Marguerite, hosts with the Hughes, pleaded no contest and were fined $250 each.

Henry K. Clem, 44, of Norwalk, who worked as a bartender at the party, also pleaded no contest. After Clem's attorney asked for leniency, saying that Clem had only a modest income, Toscano fined him $150 and remitted the entire sum.

home. She is spry with a quick smile and a double braid if thin white hair atop her head. When she talks of America, the words come in a flow of Lithuanian.

She sat in the den with her blonde granddaughter and Ruta's mother, Mrs. Joseph Kilmonis, who acted as interpreters for her. Ruta explained that she herself learned Lithuanian before English in her Montreal home.

Except for 12 years in Siberia after World War II, Mrs. Kamandulis spent nearly all of her long life in Lithuania. What does she like best about America?

"Everything," she said glowingly. She is dazzled by the abundance of food and only regrets that she can't partake of the meat. I am a very old lady and meat hurts me here," she said, holding her stomach.

"She adores ice cream," Ruta added.

Does Mrs. Kamandulis miss anything about the Old Country?

"Oh, yes," she nodded. "It is hard to leave the faces that you know. But here I have my daughter and my granddaughter and the church and freedom, and that is enough to keep me happy."

Ruta's mother commented: "That was the thing that impressed her the most — that she could go to church and pray any time she wanted. Her religion means very much to her. She still carries a Rosary that a man made her out of old beads in Siberia. It was only recently that she was allowed to go to church again in Lithuania."

Mrs. Kamandulis spends her days putting about the sprawling house, sweeping here, dusting there.

She loves to do things for me," Ruta said, "and she is always straightening up my bedroom. One day she looked at the big bed I have and she started singing an old song about how it is good to sleep but it is better to sleep not alone. That's the country humor coming out."

Information Of Interest To Veterans

(Veterans and their dependents who may have any questions concerning any benefits from the Veterans Administration should bring their questions to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. His office is located in the basement of the County Court House.)

Q—I hold a permanent plan GI life insurance policy. I need money to pay bills. Should I cash in my policy?

A—I would not advise it. You should, first, consider borrowing on your policy. You may borrow as much as 94 per cent of the cash surrender value without losing your insurance protection. Once a policy is surrendered for cash it cannot be restored. You will be much better off, if you borrow on your policy.

Q—What is the maximum amount of a GI home loan that the VA will guarantee?

A—The VA will guarantee up to 60 per cent of the loan, but not more than $7500. The limit that can be borrowed on a direct loan is $15,000.

Q—My disability compensation was reduced when my daughter, who has graduated from high school, became 18 years of age a short time ago. She now plans to attend college. Will my compensation be restored to the former amount?

A—It certainly will. Additional amounts for dependents are paid to veterans that receive 50 per cent or more disability compensation. This includes children over 18 and under 21 who are attending school.

Q—I will be discharged from the service soon. As a veteran, will I be entitled to a pension?

A—Pension benefits are available to veterans who are totally and permanently disabled not due to their military service and who can meet certain income and estate limitations. They must also have had at least 90 days of active service, any part of which was served in wartime, and their discharge must be other than dishonorable.

Q—Do the children of deceased veterans forfeit their pension when their mothers (the veteran's widow) remarries?

A—They do not. Eligible children of a deceased veteran retain their pension rights after their mother remarries until they become 18, or 21 if they are going to school.

Redistricting...

Bills introduced Tuesday, besides redistricting and the checks, included two in the Senate to:

Specify that state lawmakers may serve with state universities, except as trustees or managers.

Amend a 1963 land transfer measure involving property in Greenville, Darke County.

A bill introduced in the House would allow conservancy districts to issue notes up to five years duration (the limit now is two), not to exceed 90 per cent of total unpaid assessments, allowing more leeway in completion of projects. A few hours later, the House Conservation Committee recommended passage.

The redistricting bill introduced last night would alter 15 of the present 23 Ohio congressional districts, plus of course creating a 24th. But it's a foregone conclusion that any final bill will have undergone considerable revision.

In fact, Rep. Charles F. Kurfess, R-Wood, chairman of the House Elections-Federal Relations Committee which is pondering it, remarked: "I have no fear of the bill (the one introduced Tuesday night) before this committee becoming law."

Some state senators were present at Tuesday night's committee hearing, but there were none at the table despite the House committee's Monday invitation to meet jointly. Little of the testimony proposed anything concrete in the way of is set for tonight.

Both remapping of Ohio's congressional districts and reapportioning of the legislature (no bill has been introduced on this subject yet) result from U.S. Supreme Court decisions that such districts must be as nearly equal as possible in population.

Here is what the first bill on redistricting proposes in the way of area lineups:

1st and 2nd Districts — Unchanged, both in Hamilton County.

3rd — Montgomery County alone (now Montgomery and Butler).

4th—Unchanged, Allen, Auglaize, Darke, Mercer, Miami, Preble, Shelby.

5th Adds Sandusky to present Williams, Fulton, Defiance, Ottawa, Henry, Wood, Paulding, Putnam, Van Wert.

6th—Takes out Clermont, adds Fairfield to present Adams, Brown, Fayette, Highland, Pike, Scioto, Pickaway, Ross.

7th—Takes out Warren from present Champaign, Clark, Clinton, Greene, Logan, Union, Madison.

8th—Adds Richland to present Crawford, Hancock, Hardin, Seneca, Marion, Morrow, Wyandot.

ADDED AT-TRACTION—Truck tires equipped with metal studs that nearly double traction on ice will be available from Goodyear this winter, the company announced in Akron, Ohio. The tires were tested last winter.

North America has more than 50 kinds of oak trees. The most important is the white oak which grows from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

Clinton Educator Urges Shaking Off of Shackles

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Clinton County school official said today that school board members facing school consolidation "must be first to shake the shackles of the past."

Walter Nichols, Clinton County school superintendent and president of the Ohio County Superintendents Association, made the remark in an address to a discussion session at the annual public school officials meeting.

Nichols, who said that he has "gone through the consolidation wringer," described the purpose of school consolidation as fourfold:

"To improve educational opportunities, which is the basic consideration; to use tax dollars more effectively; to distribute burdens of school support more equitably, and very often to assure more, not less, effective local control of the schools."

Nichols urged officials facing a school consolidation to:

"Know what a good school embraces... and attempt to raise the sight of the citizens to see what you see good education to mean."

"Feel free to expose the weaknesses and inadequacies of a school, but do it with good grace... An inadequate educational program needs to be made public."

"Face the problem with courage. Be consistent—for or against."

"Work for boys and girls and the total district. Beware of representing special interest or geographical segments of a district."

"Know your law—study well the specific section you are working under at the time. Seek your legal advice well in advance of action."

"Try to lay sentiment aside and look at things objectively. We, of the official family, have a tendency to be loyal to our system. Parents want good schools and district fences are of little significance."

Today's activities composed the second day of the meeting of 2,500 public school officials sponsored by the Ohio School Boards Association, the Ohio Association of School Administrators and the Ohio Association of School Business Officials.

Tuesday night, Loren E. Sourers Jr., Canton Board of Education member and former vice president of the State Board of Education, told delegates that the modern-day public school superintendent has been forced to become an expert in many fields.

Today's superintendent, Sourers said, "has been forced either to become an expert himself or to be capable of selecting and supervising experts in the field of school building planning, architecture and construction, teacher recruitment and school bond and tax levy campaign promotion, and public relations."

Badger Killed By Auto in Jackson Twp.

A badger was killed on the Florence Chapel Road two miles west of Fox this week, it was reported by Russell Tippet, Pickaway County game protector.

Tippet reported it is unusual for the burrowing animal to be found in Central Ohio, although its native range at one time extended into northwest Ohio.

It is the sixth time a badger has been killed in the central part of the state, according to the Division of Wildlife records.

The badger, a male, weighed 22 pounds and was 33 inches long from the tip of his nose to the tip of his tail.

Badgers are a carnivorous animal, Tippet said. Although considered undesirable by many farmers because of the burrowing characteristic, he said they feed largely on rats, mice and other undesirable rodents.

4 Vinton Democrats Ask for Recounts

MCARTHUR, Ohio (AP)—The Vinton County Board of Election is expected to conduct recounts of the results of the Nov. 3 election in four county races in which Democrats were defeated. The unsuccessful candidates asked the recounts Tuesday.

They are Ronald Bail, defeated for county sheriff; Ruth Rutter, defeated for county recorder; Roy Allman, defeated for county commissioner, and E. B. Webb, defeated for representative to the General Assembly.

Maxson Speaker For Rotary Club

Clarence Maxson, owner of the Laurelville Grain Co. and resident of Salter Creek Twp., will be guest speaker at Thursday's Rotary Club meeting.

Maxson will describe his recent trip to Russia and other iron curtain countries.

The regular luncheon session will be held at the St. Philip's Church Parish House.

Wool Growers Are Reminded On Records

Wool growers — particularly those who market their lambs in the fall — were reminded today about the importance of keeping adequate records of their sales so that they will be able to make proper applications for payment under the wool incentive program.

According to Galen D. Mowery, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Pickaway County Committee, the sales record for lambs sold should include the name of the buyer, his signature and the number and liveweight of lambs sold, plus the description "unshorn." Payments are made only on lambs that have never been shorn, to discourage unusual shearing of lambs before selling.

The chairman also reminded growers that current marketings of wool and lambs through Dec. 31, 1964, will qualify for incentive payments under the wool program for the 1964 marketing year. Beginning with 1964, the marketing year is the calendar year.

Growers are urged to file their applications for payment, supported by the required sales documents, with their ASCS County Office as soon as possible after their fall sales are completed. While applications for payments on 1964 marketings may be filed no later than the end of January 1965, an application may be submitted at any time between now and then.

MOWERY said lamb feeders particularly should keep accurate records which will establish the length of time they have owned lambs on which they apply for payment.

Lamb payments are made only on lambs which a producer has owned for 30 days or more. The amount of payment is based on weight gain of the lambs during the seller's ownership.

SOUTH-CENTRAL on the move

Just one of the up-to-the-minute procedures initiated by South-Central in past months has been the use of helicopters in the many phases of line maintenance.

Helicopters patrol the lines periodically, searching for trouble spots — doing the job in hours, whereas a foot crew would take weeks.

Helicopters spray rights of way to keep down brush growth that impedes service. Helicopters speed the setting up of transmission lines by putting the pole in position for work crews to anchor.

Helicopters help restore power transmission during outages in severe winter weather, by getting to the snow-bound emergency area where surface vehicles cannot reach.

It's progress! — the kind of progress that keeps South-Central's overall costs down — that helps reduce rates to its member-consumers.

Keep your eye on South-Central — it's on the move!

Christmas Fund Hits $1.7 Billion

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — An annual flood of money is spilling into pre-Christmas business channels.

It is the $1,774,172,000 saved this year by 14,750,000 Christmas Club members.

The money is being distributed by 9,900 banks and savings and loan associations throughout the country.

It compares with savings of $1,659,430,000 last year.

"This substantial increase in Christmas savings forecasts good Christmas business," says Edward F. Dorset, president of "Christmas Club A Corporation."

The Christmas Club has been promoting the savings program since 1910.

A survey by the club indicates that 38.11 per cent, or $676,136,949 will go for Christmas purchases; 31.29 per cent, or $555,138,419, for savings and investment for future use; 12.51 per cent, or $221,948,917, for taxes; 6.19 per cent, or $109,821,247, for year-end bills; and 11.9 per cent, or $211,126,468, for miscellaneous uses.

Four states account for about 50 per cent of the total membership and savings. They are New York, 2,849,339 members and $376,593,264 in savings; Pennsylvania, 1,845,891 and $227,890,681; New Jersey, 1,234,126 and $181,054,946; and California, 1,154,671 and $186,810,024.

Dorset says a survey indicates that 45 per cent of the members felt that their 1964 checks represented money that never would have been saved without the systematic plan.

The savings plan is based on the psychology of obligation. It has been described as a convenient, fairly painless way for people to trick themselves into saving money and developing the habit of thrift.

The program gets under way each November with members signing up to save anywhere from 50 cents to $20 a week for 50 weeks.

The banks pay no interest on the deposits and some levy a small service charge.

The club was founded in 1910 by the late Herbert F. Rawll, who sold printed forms and supplies to banks and businesses.

Rawll came across a plan being operated by Carlisle Trust Co. in Carlisle, Pa. He obtained the rights and set out to sell it other banks.

Rawll based his sales approach on the idea that while the money deposited for a year would not materially help the banks it would bring potential customers for other services into the banks.

Christmas Club A Corporation makes its money selling to banks the printed forms and supplies needed in the program.

Author of 'Perry Mason' Still Has Plenty of Ideas

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Erle Stanley Gardner, the one-man book factory, was in town for a rare visit to his brainchild, Perry Mason, and to make sure the defense attorney continues his winning ways.

Gardner's advent was celebrated by a party given by Raymond Burr, the Mason of television, for the losers of the 371 shows during the series' eight years. The place: the Losers Club, a watering place along La Cienega's restaurant row.

Burr didn't appear, but dozens of his defeated opponents did. Gardner himself was a grumbling participant — "My ears are bad and I have no gift for small talk," he complained earlier. But he seemed to have no complaint as he posed for Jameson, Kathie Browne and more luscious losers Joyce Lisa Gaye.

In a more relaxed mood, Gardner lounged at the Hollywood Hills home of his partners, Cornwell Jackson and Gail Patrick — She the executive producer of the CBS series. He is a chunky, tweed-suited man whose quiet manner is in contrast to the enormous energy he has poured into his work over the years.

"I come to Hollywood as little as possible," Gardner remarked. "People are apt to trample me to death, and I start to get behind in my work. I'm always closing office and opening up new ones because people catch up with me."

Besides his 3,000-acre ranch in Riverside County, he has 27 acres at Paradise, Calif., and a houseboat which he keeps in the delta country of the Sacramento River. In these places and others, he maintains a staff of six to eight secretaries, who take the rat-a-tat-tat dictation for his books and correspondence — "I've forgotten how to operate a typewriter."

His output so far? He couldn't remember, so he had a secretary phone the ranch office. The report came back: 123 books, including 74 Perry Masons; four now at the publisher or in the works.

"I used to do two to four Masons a year, plus two under the name of A. A. Fair," Gardner said. "But lately I've gotten sidetracked into other interests. For instance, I've been doing a lot of research on Baja California and have made expeditions down there. I'm also producing a book about houseboats. And I've been doing a great deal of investigation in the Superstition Mountains about the Lost Dutchman mine."

"Run out of ideas?" he said. "I don't think I ever will, as long as I maintain a variety of experience. I try to make each new Perry Mason better than the last one."

The World Today

By J. W. DAVIS
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Memories, as the poet said, can bless as well as burn.

Of blessed memory are the hours that John F. Kennedy spent with his small children.

They were precious times that had to be stolen from busy days. It was just a year ago today that President Kennedy took John John to Arlington National Cemetery for a wreath-laying ceremony honoring the nation's veterans.

Little John, not quite 3, didn't understand what was going on, and of course, he wriggled.

While his father sat on the stage, John Jr., in blue shorts and white sweater, sat with a Secret Service agent on a marble bench below.

Once John broke away and headed for the stage. Recaptured, he was set down in a walkway where the agent and a White House photographer hemmed him in, as much as little boys are ever hemmed in. After the ceremony, John ran between two of Kennedy's military aides and grabbed his father's hand. One of the aides took the boy's other hand.

When the three walked up to a set of stairs, John leaped into the air, swinging his legs as he dangled from the grown-ups' hands. Then, as they drove out of the cemetery, John waved energetic goodbys.

It was a father-and-son show that warmed the heart as it charmed the eye.

President Kennedy earlier

had done his part in the ceremonial sense.

He had proclaimed Veterans Day as a day to honor those who had served their country in time of war, and to renew American determination to achieve world peace "with patience, perseverance and courage."

They're having another Veterans Day ceremony in Arlington today.

60 MPH. LIKE THIS—Kathy Hardy, 3, shows you how she crouched on running board of her father's pickup truck and rode 20 miles over Los Angeles freeways at 55 to 60 miles an hour. Her father found out she was there when another motorist yelled, "There's a little girl hanging on the side of your truck!"

Last Peary Aide Is Now 90 Years Old

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP) — Tall and straight as a schooner's mast, Adm. Donald B. Macmillan, last survivor of the 1909 Peary North Pole expedition, is now 90 years old.

Smiling, crinkles running from his blue eyes, Macmillan told an interviewer he has no advice to pass on to posterity.

"I'm still living and learning every day," he said. "I have to go to the dictionary just like everyone else."

"Mac," or "Dan," as he is known, lives in his childhood home on the waterfront of this Cape Cod town.

In 90 years Macmillan has never been far from salt water. His father, a fishing captain, was lost at sea when Macmillan was 9.

Aided by Miriam, his wife and shipmate on nine northern voyages, Macmillan is busy now indexing the arctic accumulation of a lifetime.

Thousands of books, photographs, Eskimo tools and clothing are to be housed in a special collection at his beloved Bowdoin College in Brunswick, Maine. Other material will go to a museum in Provincetown.

Macmillan was chief aide to Adm. Robert E. Peary in the struggle across the frozen Arctic Sea to the northernmost end of the earth. Macmillan and his Eskimo helpers laid a vital supply cache far out on the ice so Peary, his companion Matthew Henson, and the Eskimo dog drivers could make the final successful dash to the pole, the first in history.

Top Military Chiefs Carry Small Radios

WASHINGTON (AP)—It is a quiet weekend afternoon. The four-star general is out on the golf course. Suddenly, a military emergency erupts.

The general, a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is nowhere near the "hot lines" that connect the Pentagon command post with his home and office. His car, with its telephone link, is back at the club house.

How to reach him? Send a messenger? No. Call him directly — on his personal small package two-way radio.

The Defense Department said today that all of the military chiefs have such radios, which can tie them into the global U.S. military communications net.

"They do not literally carry them on their person at all times, only when away from normal communications," the Pentagon said. All of the chiefs have been using these personal radios since early 1964 and some high officials have had them for longer than that, the department said.

The radios operate on 1 or 1½ watts power and have a range of up to 17 miles.

Mao Seen Satisfied with Role

State's Finances Said in 'Black'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Finance Director Richard Krabach's report on the state general revenue fund showed an unencumbered balance of $8.5 million at the end of October.

He said the month ended with a cash balance of $66.5 million but that outstanding debts totaled $58 million, including a $22 million reserve for public school subsidies.

Krabach said the quarterly school subsidy of nearly $65 mil-

By JOHN CANTWELL
HONG KONG (AP) — The last four weeks must rank among the most satisfying ever for Communist China's Mao Tse-tung.

In that time he has emerged as probably the most influential Communist leader in the world—the elder statesman of Marxism-Leninism.

He has seen — and perhaps was partly responsible for—the fall of his arch-enemy, Nikita Khrushchev.

He has received credit for the lion will be paid in full at the end of this month.

success of Communist China's first atomic explosion.

And now, Western observers here believe, he is confident he can increase his influence in Moscow and "correct" the "false revisionist beliefs" of the new men in the Kremlin.

He probably will not succeed. But at least he knows that his trusted aide, Chou En-lai, is in a strong bargaining position in relations with the Soviet Union.

Mao will be 71 next month. Recent photographs have shown he has lost weight. He appears to be ailing. His clothes hang on him.

He still smokes heavily and occasionally drinks a little rice wine. He lives with his fourth wife — Lan Pin, a former Shanghai actress — in an old one-story house in Peking.

Western observers here believe Mao's age and physical frailty will prevent him from holding the reins of power much longer.

His successor probably will come from one of the five men whom recent official announcements from Peking described as Mao's "closest comrades in arms."

These are Liu Shao-chi, Chou En-lai, Lin Biao, Teng Hsiao-ping and Peng Chen. The announcements suggest that one of these men will take Mao's place if he steps down or dies.

Liu, who is president of Communist China, has been called the obvious choice. But Liu, along with all the others, is in his 60s.

Mao recently introduced a campaign to train "Red heirs" — successors to the old elite.

But despite his precautions there are likely to be confusion, struggles and purges when Mao passes from the scene.

Several years later there may be a sudden breakthrough with the emergence of a host of younger figures.

USW LOCKED IN POWER STRUGGLE—For the first time in its history, the 1.2 million-member United Steelworkers Union is locked in a power struggle between its top leaders. The open fight for union control was triggered when I. W. Abel (left), USW secretary-treasurer, announced he would oppose union president David J. McDonald (right), for the presidency in elections next February.

JEEP, JEEP—The OH-6A "flying jeep" helicopter soon may be joining its four-wheeled counterpart as a strategic Army vehicle. Designed by Hughes Tool Company's aircraft division, Culver City, Calif., the OH-6A is a two-place light observation helicopter. It has additional space to carry 400 pounds or two passengers.

NEW YORK (AP) — "That Was the Week That Was" finally made it back to the nation's living rooms Tuesday night — impudent, irreverent, snide and sometimes clever and funny.

In the "TW3" opening song, Nancy Ames quickly reprised in doggerel some of the events which had escaped the attentions of the NBC topical revue while it was pre-empted by paid political broadcasts during the campaign. Then the performers buckled down to the business of wrapping up the election and they spared no one.

One amusing sketch, which I seem to have read somewhere before, was pegged on Sen. Goldwater's post-election expressions of friendship for the successful Democratic team. It had the three of them chuckling together over the stinging statements made in the heat of oratory.

Another bright spot was a number which had an actor playing Sen. elect George Murphy in white tie and top hat doing a song-and-dance number to a tune played on the piano by a cigar-smoking Pierre Salinger.

Phyllis Newman did a wicked imitation of Audrey Hepburn. Later, with Tom Poston and Buck Henry she sang a witty paean to polyandry, pegged to a scientist's prediction of an approaching shortage of women.

"TW3" has suffered critical slings and arrows, probably because it has not always been as razor keen as many of us would wish. But at least it is on the air and thus should be treasured. Recommended tonight: "CBS reports," 7:30-8:30 EST — "The United States and the Two Chinas," a study of one of our thorniest foreign problems.

WAS TRICK AND A TREAT—They're still talking about the "trick or treat" play staged by the Rolling Prairie team of Indiana (on Halloween) which gave them a score against St. John's High of Benton Harbor, Mich. And the Rolling Prairie team here shows how it was done. The team lined up (top) with linemen except center facing the rear. After the ball was snapped the players stood up and went back into a huddle around the quarterback. Then, while the other team stood by in astonishment, one of the players took off with the ball for a touchdown after branching out like the players are doing in the lower picture.

New Leadership Group, Audit For GOP Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican party's self-analysis continued today with twin calls for a sort of "collective leadership" group to guide GOP fortunes.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin and Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho advanced the idea of a temporary party agency while Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania urged an immediate and independent audit of the national committee's campaign treasury.

The description "collective leadership" was provided by Laird, a prominent House Republican who was chairman of the platform committee at the party's national convention. He said a broad-based group is needed "to fill the vacuum of leadership" and to work toward "rebuilding of the party."

"This is no time to hunt for scapegoats, no time to indulge in intraparty bickering, no time to pursue personal ambition," he said in a statement. "Above all this is no time for anybody to read anybody else out of the Republican party."

Laird said the leadership group should include:

- Representatives of the Republican members of the Congress, Republican governors, other Republican officeholders at the state and local level, Republican National Committee members, Republican state and county chairmen, as well as Republicans from private life in various fields of endeavor.
- Similarly, Smylie, president of the Republican Governors Association, suggested Tuesday creation of an agency "somewhere between a formal convention and a continuous council" to keep the party platform up to date.

The governor, who already has demanded that National Chairman Dean Burch resign, said the leadership group should include Republicans in and out of office. He suggested former President Dwight D. Eisenhower; Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, a former GOP national chairman; Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, and House Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana be included in the group's membership.

Scott told a news conference in Philadelphia that "Southern scalawags" and "hard-core radical right" elements in the party's leadership must be purged.

A former party chairman who generally supports liberal legislation, Scott won re-election to the Senate last week by 42,000 votes. Absentee ballots still are to be counted.

Citing reports that the party may end up with a national campaign surplus of $1.2 million, he said such a treasury would be "in 'ded to keep the radical right in control of the Republican party."

"These people apparently anticipated the defeat of Barry Goldwater and William E. Miller and hoarded this money," he said.

In Washington, a spokesman for the Republican congressional campaign committee said the national committee had told him there is no truth to reports of such a surplus.

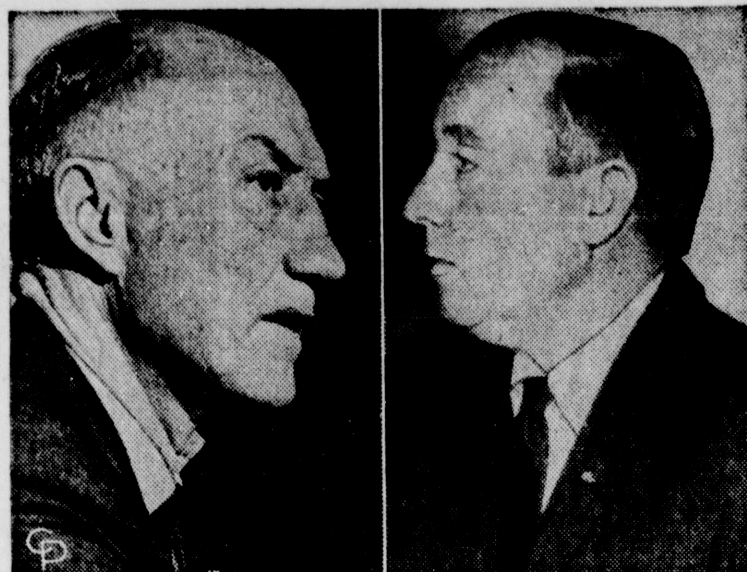

"Believe me, if they had that much money at the national committee we'd be down there tomorrow morning," the spokesman said.

In New York, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon joined in the reappraisal by urging the party to take the middle ground and "make a place for all responsible points of view."

Still, he said, "the election will be badly interpreted if it is interpreted as a rejection of conservatism. It was a rejection of reaction, a rejection of racism, a rejection of extremism."

Home Fire Takes Life Of Third Youngster

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Burns suffered in a fire at his Ravens home Oct. 17 proved fatal Tuesday to George Brantley Jr., 3. He died in Akron Children's Hospital. Two sisters, aged 2 and 4, also died in the fire. A third daughter was rescued by a neighbor. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Brantley.

"G" MEN IN TROUBLE—Trouble may lie ahead in Congress for Sen. Strom Thurmond (left) of South Carolina, who switched from Democrat to Republican, and for Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss. They and Rep. Albert W. Watson, D-S.C., openly supported Goldwater, and could lose influential committee posts when Congress reconvenes.

Marine Headquarters Named for 'Howlin' Mad'

HONOLULU (AP) — In the entire U.S. Marine Corps, only one headquarters is named after a living man.

The headquarters is that of Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, near Pearl Harbor. The official name is "Camp H. M. Smith."

H. M. Smith is a retired, four-star general, better known as "Howlin' Mad" Smith, or just plain "Hoke."

The 82-year-old general returned to his old command post this week to help Hawaii Marines celebrate the 189th birthday of the corps in which he spent 41 years. He retired 18 years ago.

During World War II in the Pacific, Smith's name became almost as well-known as those of Halsey, MacArthur and Nimitz.

There are at least two schools of thought on how he came by his nickname.

Smith's version is that it is a play on his Christian name — Holland McTyeire.

Lt. Gen. Victor Krulak, the present commander of Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, said it stemmed from Smith's "consummate impatience" at the outset of World War II when he was anxious for the United States to attain a state of "operational and material readiness" in the least possible time.

Krulak said, "He did howl and he was mad."

Smith led the Fleet Marine Force when it consisted of more than 250,000 men, the biggest Marine force in the corps' history.

A widower, Smith now lives in La Jolla, Calif. He makes a hobby of assisting underprivileged children and is a director of a home for needy youngsters.

Smith claims that every Marine on active duty who is over 40 years old at one time served under him.

His son, John, is a Navy rear admiral. "I tell them (naval flag officers) that my son couldn't get into the corps because he wasn't quite good enough. So he joined the Navy!" Smith quipped.

Ohio Crop Production Forecast Is Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department Tuesday forecast the following crop production for Ohio, with the indicated yield per acre and production, respectively.

Corn for grain—66 bushels per acre, production 191,598,000 bushels.

Soybeans for beans—22 bushels per acre, production 39,776,000 bushels.

Sugar beets—14 tons per acre, production 420,000 tons.

Legislative Committees At Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—No midnight oil has been burned yet, but the committee pace is picking up in the legislature's special session.

The House Education Committee was expected to recommend two measures today for passage—creation of a State Medical College at Toledo and establishing a Cleveland State University.

Conservation Committee members Tuesday night recommended passage of a bill to extend from two to five years the maturity period of anticipatory notes issued by conservancy districts. It was introduced a few hours earlier. Action on a bill especially empowering the Mines Division to regulate oil field wastes is expected to come in this committee early next week.

The House Judiciary Committee, meeting after Tuesday's floor session, recommended passage of measures to convey Belmont County Sanatorium-Infirmarary land to Ohio University for a branch campus and to transfer title of the George Rogers Clark State Park to Springfield.

Alabama Democrats Study Stunning Defeat at Polls

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—After each presidential election since 1925, the Democrats in Alabama have counted the returns and twitted the Republicans: "You're eligible to have a primary now, why don't you?"

A political party must get 20 per cent of the votes in a general election before it can have a primary, at state expense, the following election year.

The Republicans have been eligible since the first Eisenhower campaign of 1952. They kept right on nominating their candidates by convention — and getting a bigger vote each election.

This year, it's a different story. It's the Democrats who had to call in the mathematicians to see if they can hold a primary in the 1966 elections.

Sen. Barry Goldwater carried Alabama on Nov. 3. The Democrats got only about 30 per cent of the vote.

Thus have the mighty fallen from public favor in a state where, for generation after generation, Democratic nomination was all it took to win.

The Goldwater landslide elected five Republicans to Congress and swept Democrats out of local office in a score of counties. Thousands of Alabamians, bristling with resentment against the party of their ancestors, cast a straight GOP ballot.

Republican spokesman jubilantly proclaimed the advent of a strong two-party system in a state long known for one-party control. Acting GOP state chairman Tom Brigham went further. He said Alabama will be a Republican state in the years to come.

Dismayed Democratic leaders analyzed the GOP victory, hopefully, as an emotional outburst touched off in large measure by opposition to the Civil Rights Act. They forecast a return to Democratic domination two years from now, but readily admitted their ranks are split by intraparty strife.

Some Democrats blamed Gov. George C. Wallace for the party setback because of his part in the presidential campaign and his refusal to support the national party.

The unprecedented defeat brought demands from the Democratic ranks for reorganization of the party; for a party registration law to keep Republicans out of the Democratic primaries, and for a return to the loyalty oath binding Democrats to the national ticket in future elections.
